

Name _____ Period _____

STUDY GUIDE: LIVING ORGANISMS

Note: Don't forget to study your spelling words!!!

1. What are the five characteristics of living things?

-
-
-
-
-

2. Define and give an example of a stimulus.

3. Small self-contained units of life are called _____, and chemical changes in living cells are known as _____.

4. The science of naming organisms and assigning them to groups is called _____, and the first classification system was established by _____.

5. Pairs of opposing questions or statements about observable traits that eventually lead to the identity of an object or organisms are organized into a _____ where the objects are split into _____ groups.
(#)

6. Name the 7 classification groups in order, from largest to smallest.

-
-
-
-
-
-
-

7. The smallest and most similar group in the classification system is _____ while the largest group is _____.

Name _____ Period _____

8. Felis refus and Felis domesticus belong to the same _____ but different _____.

9. Which two kingdoms are considered prokaryotes?

10. What is a eukaryote?

11. Eubacteria literally means _____ and Archaeobacteria literally means _____.

12. _____ organisms are made of one cell, while _____ organisms consist of more than one cell.

13. Explain the 3 ways organisms are placed into kingdoms.

-
-
-

14. Give an example of a mollusk.

15. Flatworms belong to the phylum _____, roundworms belong to the phylum _____, and earthworms belong to the phylum _____.

16. A starfish would belong to which phylum?